

Privacy Policy

This policy covers how JCCUD treats personal information that JCCUD collects and receives. Personal information is information about you.

Personally Identifiable Information

JCCUD gathers personally identifiable information (name, e-mail address, etc.) and/or demographic data (zip code, etc.) that you submit when you contact us, by filling out the information on the comments page, or send us an e-mail. This information may be gathered through both on-line and off-line means. We may use this information to process and maintain your account, compile demographic statistics about our users, and display to you information that matches your interests and profile.

Information Sharing and Disclosure

JCCUD does not rent, sell, or share personal information about you with other people or nonaffiliated companies.

Changes to this Privacy Policy

JCCUD may, from time-to-time, update this privacy statement without notice.
